33 late marks across the week is extremely high!

Nightingales

This week, children in Nightingales have been going on a bear hunt!

Robins

We used counting bears to investigate the mass of a range of loose parts that the children collected from around the classroom. We explored mass using numicon and noticed that the greater the number, the heavier the number shape. We have estimated which objects will be heavier and tested our predictions.

Hawks

We have been learning how to make our own purses, thinking carefully about how we join the pieces of fabric together.

Eagles

As part of their learning about Sound in science, Eagles investigated which materials made the best string telephone.
